WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—A prolonged session of congress, beginning January 3, was forecast today by many prominent Democrats in congress despite the administration's known hope for an early adjournment.

Increasing evidence of bitter fights
by congressional blocs for legislation loomed as the chief obstacle to accomplishment of a "short and sweet" session confined to the administration's program.

Although Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the senate's leader, is expected to lay plans before his steering committee next week for swift enactment of the President's proposals, many of his colleagues hold the aim impossible, a survey of Democratic senatorial opinion disclosed a general agreement that President Roosevelt's program, perhaps modified, will be backed by the new congress.

But a score of legislative proposals
thus far frowned upon by the administration, including silver remonetization, the soldiers bonus, minimum farm prices, will be advocated by bi-partisan forces.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Dear Pa Newc:
Many folks will have living Christmas trees in their homes this season, with the idea of evergreen conservation. If your tree is a living one be sure and keep the light bulbs away from the live branches and keep the ball of earth wet so that it will not dry out while it is in the house and as soon as your tree has done its duty place it in the ground as soon as possible. If your tree is a Norway Spruce, Balsam, or White Pine, do not plant close to the house for these trees are true trees of the forest, and will soon outgrow their positions growing to a height of one hundred feet or more.
After you have placed your tree in the ground, be sure to give it about six gallons of water.

Federal Officers Make Two Arrests Seizing Huge Still

One of the largest liquor raids ever staged in Lawrence county, perhaps the largest, was pulled late Wednesday night by Federal officers in the old Moore homestead located on Clemmore boulevard, about 200 yards east of the Wilmington road.

A huge still, 54 inches in diameter, and 41 inches high, with a capacity of finished moonshine whiskey, 70 barrels of mash, several coils and pieces of heating apparatus, 900

Russia Prepares For Execution Of Slayer Of Kirov

Report Two Plots To Slay

FIFTEEN TO FACE FIRING SQUADS

French Officials Deny Trotzky Had Any Connection With Russian Plots

MOSCOW, Dec. 27.—Leonid
Nikolaiev, slayer of Sergei Kirov, and 14 confederates, having, according to the government, revealed two plots to assassinate Josef Stalin, today were turned over to a military tribunal for summary trials.

According to Finance Director Hoyland's bill the levy is divided as follows: For general revenue purposes, 9 mills; sinking fund, 2 mills, and library purposes 1-2 mill. He gave the assessed valuation as $50,- 823,520.00. The fiscal year begins January 7, 1936. The bills will have been enacted into ordinance by that same as this year.

Council convened at city hall today and after reporting favorably from committee a bill appropriating from general revenue $398,479.00, for the operation of the different departments of the city government during 1935, sent to committee and reported favorably a bill designating the 1935 tax levy at 11½ mills, the same as this year.

Appropriations Fixed

The amounts agreed upon for the different city departments are as follows:

Public affairs, $82,250.
Accounts and finance, $25,050.
Fire department, $71,393.
Health bureau, $35,776.
Electric bureau, $73,490.
Streets and public improvements,
$34,200.

Engineer's bureau, $16,465.
Parks and Property, $35,798.
Water, $10,000.

Miscellaneous (G. A. R. tax exemptions, gasoline and oil, general contingent) $11,400.

Motor apparatus repair bureau,
$3,800.

The trials, with no attorneys present to check their speed, will probably be held within the next few days, and if the 15 alleged terrorists meet the fate already meted out to 103 of their fellows, they will face firing squads immediately after they are sentenced.

Nikolaiev, wounded and battered after he shot Kirov Dec. 1, has been kept alive since then so that the last bit of evidence could be wrought from him. Having rounded up most of the details of the alleged plots, the government, clamoring through the official press for "extermination of the vermin," was expected at last to end the assassin's life.

Indirect Link to Trotzky.

U. S. AMBASSADOR IS THREATENED

Cuban Envoy Threat Target

More Than 50 Incidents Are Reported In Past Six Months

CLOSELY GUARDED BY HAVANA POLICE

(Copyright, 1934, By International News Service)

HAVANA, Dec. 27.—More than 50 threats of violence or death have been directed against American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery in the past six months, International News Service was reliably informed today.

In recent weeks the majority of the threats, obviously of Communist origin, have revolved around the case of the Scottsboro negroes in the United States, although other matters also are involved, with the communists threatening the envoy both if he should act or if he should fail to act.

Hear Bomb Threats

A few days ago, five members of the Cuban National Labor Defense league were arrested on the charge that they threatened to bomb both the American embassy and the American consulate if the Scottsboro prisoners were not released.

Caffery's life has been threatened with the demand that he bring about United States intervention to save Cuba, and at the same time other factors were threatening his life if he did intervene. Yankee "Imperialism" charges have been behind many of the threats.

Ambassador Caffery continues to use his own open car in travelling about Havana, although alarmed National police have provided one of their new radio cars to follow him wherever he goes.

SUIT FOR $24,280 FILED AGAINST LAWRENCE CO. BY ARCHITECTS

ing with the Thayer Company. This contract was approved by the court on November 1st. Pursuant to the contract the Thayer Company began work. November 22nd the Thayer Company presented a tentative plan. On the same day the commissioners approved the plan.

On January 11, 1934, a grant was made to the county by the public works administration of a sum of money to construct the building, of which grant 70 per cent was a loan and 30 per cent a gift. Work was then started by the architects to complete the plans. Inspection was made of a number of courthouses and jails in other places by the architects and commissioners.

Engineer Named

At about the time of the signing of the contract the plaintiffs recommended to the commissioners the appointment of Thomas A. Gilkey Company to serve as engineers for the structural steel, reinforced concrete, excavating and foundation. This was agreeable to the commissioners. Thayer's recommended the Vincent Eaton Company as mechanical engineers. This company was also approved by the commissioners. The Thayer Company also employed help to assist with plans.

About August 24, 1934, the commissioners notified the architects not to proceed any further with the plans. The architects claim that on that date they had virtually all the work of preparing the specifications and general working drawings, or more than 90 per cent.

Fees Of Architects

Under terms of contract plaintiffs were entitled to their architects' fee of 6 per cent; known as the basic rate, computed upon the cost of the work, together with additional compensation for disbursements as set forth in the contract.

The reasonable estimated cost of the work is $650,000. Upon completion of preliminary studies plaintiffs were entitled to receive a sum equal to 20 per cent of the basic rate, or $7,300.

Upon the completion of drawings, plaintiffs were entitled to receive a sum sufficient to increase payments on the fee to 60 per cent.

The defendants having stopped work when plaintiffs had performed at least 90 per cent of the work, became and are obligated to pay plaintiff an additional sum equal to 90 per cent of the additional payment of 40 per cent of the basic rate due, exclusive of details, or $14,040.

More Payments

In addition, defendants are indebted to plaintiff an additional amount equal to one per cent of the cost or estimated cost of the building in lieu of any prospective profit and as liquidated damages for any loss sustained by termination of this contract, to-wit, $6500.

The reasonable cost to plaintiffs of the engineering services furnished by The Thomas A. Gilkey Company, for which the plaintiffs are entitled to be reimbursed is $1,940, that being 2 per cent of $97,000 estimated reasonable cost of structural work.

The reasonable cost of engineering furnished by the Vincent Eaton Company to plaintiffs is $1800, and 2 per cent of $90,000 estimated reasonable cost of plumbing, heating, ventilating and electrical work.

$7,800 Is Paid

The defendant has not made the plaintiff any payments except $7,800, which payment was directed by the court.

The total amount due the plaintiffs from the defendant is $14,040, plus sum of $6,500, plus $1,940, plus $1,800, or a total of $24,280.

The claim of the plaintiffs against the County of Lawrence as herein set forth by the plaintiff, have been submitted to the county controller as is provided by law, but payments of said claims, or any of them, has been refused by said controller.

Therefore the plaintiffs claim to recover from the defendant the sum of $24,800, with interest from Aug. 24, 1934.

Appended to the statement of facts is a copy of the various resolutions passed by the board of county commissioners in connection with their determination to build a court house, a copy of the contract made with The Thayer Company, and the approval by the court.

With the 1936 election in the offing and third-party spokesmen more numerous in congress, many Democrats fear that drastic action may be necessary to avert a session lasting well into the summer.

Fuller discussion of all legislative proposals was foreseen by Senator Adams (D) of Colorado.

World Court adherence and the St. Lawrence treaty both administration proposals, and generally excluded from the administration's program which senate Democrats predicted will receive early sailing, are expected to cause weeks of debate.

The chief battle, some members say, will come on demands for expansion of public works and social security legislation.

London Hears Report Of New Nazi "Purge"

LONDON, Dec. 27.—Two reports, possibly from the same source, stating that another Nazi "blood purge" had taken place in Germany appeared in London today.

(International News Service)

AUDUBON, N. J., Dec. 27.—Ten passengers were injured early today when a Philadelphia-bound bus crashed into the rear of another bus.

When one bus stopped to pick up passengers the second roared into it, hurling passengers from their seats. Eight of the injured—six women and two men—were rushed to a hospital, police said none of those hurt were believed to have suffered critical injuries.

Drivers of both buses—Harry Brissill and Nelson Gant—were held by police for investigation.

revealed, and an indirect link was established to Leon Trotsky, now exiled in France.

The Leningrad consul of an unnamed "capitalist country" loaned Nikolai 5000 roubles, and offered to establish contact with Trotsky, it was alleged.

The Soviets charge that the plots were the work of the pro-Trotzky anti-Stalin faction headed by Gregory Zinoviev, who is also under arrest.

Ivan Kotyloyn and Nikolai Shatsky, respectively, led the two terroristic schemes to remove Stalin and other communist leaders, according to the indictments of Nikolai and the others.

Trotzky Not Meddling.

Paris, Dec. 27.—Leon Trotsky is "leading a quiet life" in a French hide-out, and is not meddling in Soviet politics, both the Surete Generale, France's Scotland Yard, and the French foreign office told International News Service today.

The old communist leader, exiled for years, has been out of touch with the Zinoviev "anti-party" group since he has been in France, it was stated, and had no connection direct or indirect with the assassination of Sergei Kirov or the alleged dual plot against Josef Stalin.

Conservative newspapers, following the Kirov assassination and its consequent wholesale executions, have reopened a campaign to expel Trotsky from France, but the government has no immediate intention of deporting him.

Would Refuse Extradition.

As a matter of fact, the government actually would refuse to extradite Trotsky if asked to do so on political charges, it was said in informed circles, since he is a political refugee.

The foreign office vigorously denied that any complaint against Trotsky had been received from the Soviets. Reports from Moscow yesterday said that an unnamed foreign consul at Leningrad had offered to put Leonti Nikolayev, Kirov's slayer, into communication with Trotsky.

Police said that the closest watch is kept over Trotsky, and they are certain that he has been unable to communicate with any of his former political allies.

Falling rapidly from a high of 50 degrees at noon yesterday the mercury was at 10 degrees at daylight today registered in the neighborhood of 10.

The cold wave, which is thought to have originated in the Mackenzie Valley of the Canadian Northwest, was accompanied by light snow flurries and the threat of a heavy snowfall in a day or two.

Unusually heavy snowfalls were reported in upstate New York and most of the main traffic arteries were said to have been rendered temporarily impassable.

Miss Forrest Funeral

Funeral services for Miss Fannie Fern Forrest were held from the family home, North Beaver street, Wednesday afternoon with Dr. G. S. Bennett, of the First Christian church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Thomas Francis of the Euclid Avenue Methodist chapel.

Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery; pallbearers were Frank Nessie, John Meehan, Samuel Gaston, Richard Dana, Carl Hanna, and Clifford Probst.

Reports Discredited

Berlin, Dec. 27.—Best-informed circles today discredit Paris and London reports of another Nazi purge.

A story of wholesale arrests and executions of SA and SS leaders was branded a "fake," possibly growing out of more authentic accounts of possible forthcoming reorganization of the Reich standing army.

Power of the storm troops has been steadily waning, and according to the plan of Chancellor Hitler, revealed yesterday by International News Service, it is planned to merge them all with the Reichswehr and police.

Three thousand picked special guardsmen would remain as Hitler's guard, and 8,000 to 10,000 would form a Hitler division in the Reichswehr.

Report Many Executed

The "Herald" asserted that Major Walter Buch, allegedly acting for General Hermann Goering head of the Reich secret police, conducted the purge, with Chancellor Hitler remaining in the background.

Among those executed were the recently deceased Governor H. Buckner of Silesia, according to the London paper. It was stated that Heinrich Himmler, leader of the SS (guard) had been deposed, but it was unknown whether he was executed.

Seventy-seven, by Hitler's own announcement, died in the purge of June 30.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. W. J. Eroe, Jr., and Mrs. James Y. Carson; four grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Francis C. Falls, and a brother, Robert W. Cunningham, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at two p. m. from the Offutt funeral home, with interment in Oak Park cemetery.

Round-Cleland Wedding In Westminster Chapel

In the same chapel in which they worshipped as students but a few years ago, at Westminster college, New Wilmington, Miss Edith Marion Round, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Round of Neshannock boulevard, and Arthur Dale Cleland son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Cleland, of Harmony, Pa., were united in marriage Wednesday afternoon, December 26, at 4 o'clock.

The wedding was peculiarly a Westminster one. Not only are the bride and groom graduates of the college, but the officiating minister, Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, is president of the institution, and the minister assisting, Rev. James M. Guthrie, pastor of the East Brook U.P. church, is a graduate of Westminster. In addition, the maid of honor, and most of the bridal party are graduates of the college, a number of them being classmates of Mr. and Mrs. Cleland.

The quiet dignity of the chapel was enhanced for the occasion by a wealth of decoration. The organ loft and balcony rails were covered with southern smilax, woven in and out so realistically that it might have been growing there. From the organ loft to the kneeling bench, below the pulpit, was a mass of Foesterian palms and ciboulin ferns, with huge vases of white chrysanthemums intermingled. On the pulpit, the open Bible was flanked by two candelabras, each with seven burning candles, while on each side of the kneeling bench was a huge candelabra containing a burning Pascal candle.

From the rear of the church to the front, the center aisle was decorated with aisle pockets of white chrysanthemums, with a carpet of white, over which the bridal party passed. The entire decorative scheme was one of impressive harmony done in splendid taste and providing a setting of color in keeping with the beauty of the entire ceremony.

Preceding the wedding ceremony, Thomas J. Webber, organist of the First Presbyterian church, and Elsa von Moltke Emery, violinist, presented a group of numbers. For his numbers Mr. Webber played "Chant Nuptiale" by DuBois, the "Schubert Serenade" and Liszt's "Liebestraum". For her numbers Mrs. Emery played "Traume" by Wagner, and "Berceuse" by Godard. During the ceremony Mr. Webber played parts of the numbers mentioned above, and

Following the reception at the altar, a wedding dinner was held in the New Castle Field club. At the dinner were the bridal party, relatives of the bride and groom, and a few intimate friends of each family.

The dinner tables were arranged in an open rectangle, with a huge bouquet of lilies, white chrysanthemums, pink and white roses, set on a base of ferns. The tables were decorated with crystal candelabra and long white tapers, with pink and white appointments. From bouquets of pink and white roses ran long streamers of southern smilax. At the bride's table was a handsome wedding cake.

The ushers then the maid of honor and then the bride on the arm of her father. At the kneeling bench they joined the groom, with his best man and the ministers officiating. Rev. Guthrie offered the invocation and the prayer and the wedding ceremony was performed by Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, the ring service of the United Presbyterian church being used. Rev. Guthrie pronounced the benediction and the recessional started, to the accompaniment of Mendelssohn's wedding march. Following the recessional, a reception was held at the altar with the bride and groom, the wedding party, and the parents of the bride and groom in the receiving line.

For her wedding gown, Mrs. Cleland chose one of antique ivory satin, designed in a molded silhouette with sweeping train and Queen Victoria braided collar and cuffs. The wedding veil was of real rose point lace imported from Brussels, with a tiara headdress of lace completed by orange blossoms. Her bridal bouquet was of cala lillies tied with satin ribbon.

For her maid of honor, Mrs. Cleland had her sister Miss Mettie Ann Round. Miss Round was gowned in chartreuse silk, silhouette molded and slight train with monk sleeves and straight train with monk sleeves.

SAVE BOYS FROM CRIME

THE annals of modern crime show that many a gangster was once a likable boy, apple-cheeked or smart in school, the joy of his mother, guilty of nothing worse than mischievous pranks. Then came bad company, loose discipline by parents or teachers, indifference on the part of persons and groups who might have helped, and the years developed a full-grown criminal.

There was no Boy Scout work to allure a young Dillinger, a youthful Floyd. Benevolent work by the service clubs was not extensive when they were young. And one unfortunate habit in the youths begat another, until they became murderous outcasts, who had to be shot down like wolves.

There are several traits or tendencies which lead a boy toward a life of crime. As single faults they may be corrected. Truancy is a bad fault and so is wanderlust, but if dealt with early and earnestly they may be corrected and the young boy or girl saved for a useful career.

Unsociability is a weak trait in youth, leading to moodiness and perhaps worse, but it has been corrected, in many cases. Dealt with as a single flaw it yields to treatment. But if to this is tied petty pilfering and perhaps the habit of straying from home at night, and the like, a chain of wrong living is soon developed.

It is not for any parent to say that his child is immune to evil, for the records prove that poor training and bad habits can wreck the future of any young person, no matter what the standing of his home and family.

The important thing for the parents is to correct, tactfully and scientifically, any serious weakness of the boy or girl, such as unsociability, moodiness, truancy, wanderlust or pilfering. And these things should be dealt with one at a time, as they appear.

DAY OF RECKONING SURE

A "relief" map of the United States, showing the manner in which the 48 commonwealths have contributed of their own resources in the fight against hunger and cold, shows a state of affairs that ought to bring shame to Louisiana. The figures indicate that during the first three months of this year Massachusetts drew the smallest percentage of its relief funds from the federal treasury, or 2.9 per cent; in other words, Massachusetts put up 97.1 per cent of all the cash expended in this work within its borders. New York and Illinois were next to the top, paying their own way to the extent of 81.7 per cent, while the government put up the remaining 18.3 per cent. Eleven states drew from one-fourth to one-half of their relief funds from the federal treasury, twelve states got from half-one to three-fourths, and the remaining twenty-two states got from 75 per cent to 100 per cent from the United States Treasury.

Louisiana, shamefully enough, was one of the three states in the Union which did not put up a dollar of its own money to care for the needy within her borders. Arkansas and South Carolina did likewise, and two other Southern states were practically in this class, Mississippi drawing 99.8 per cent and Florida 99.7 per cent of federal aid. In Louisiana the legislature was asked to take steps to correct this disgraceful state of affairs, but a majority of its general assembly was too busy doing the will of a political boss to give a thought to duty. Wherefore though Louisiana can afford any sort of extravagance in behalf of the politicians, it cannot make even so much as a gesture toward caring for its own charity cases.

But it may not be doubted a day of reckoning is to come. It is too much to expect that such states as Massachusetts, Illinois and New York will be willing to continue paying practically all of their own "relief" costs and at the same time be called upon to put up, in the shape of federal taxes, a very large proportion of the sums expended in other states. The United States government will not always follow the practice of helping those who refuse to help themselves—and none can be found to blame the administration at Washington if it should withdraw its aid in commonwealths which refuse to co-operate in the providing of relief funds.—Shreveport, La., Journal.

SPIRIT OF GOOD WILL ON EARTH

Christmas newspapers carried the story of two wills in which the testators left virtually their entire fortunes for the benefit of the poor and the afflicted.

Ruben M. Isaacs, a New York clothing manufacturer, left $1,250,000 to sixteen welfare agencies, after providing for members of his family. In Pittsburgh Hugh McAfee, glass manufacturer, bequeathed about $1,000,000 to charitable organizations of his city.

The story of Mr. Isaacs is particularly interesting. He was so little known outside of his circle that when he died the only record of his passing was a five-and-a-half line paid death notice. He lived quietly, attending to his business and helping those less fortunate than himself.

These two cases happened to be outstanding on the morning of the Feast of the Nativity, but it would be possible to find thousands of other instances in which benefactions have been bestowed without fanfare or trumpets.

But he is never afraid of the boss if he knows he is doing first-class work.

Strange how little an international crisis matters when taxpayers have all they can carry.

Maybe movie salaries are high; but if a star attracts the crowd, who deserves the money?

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

WHERE WE USED TO LIVE

I WENT BACK TO the town, to the neighborhood, where I used to live. I wanted to see the house that was our home when we were youngsters. Don't know why I wanted to go. Just did. Wanted to see how much it had changed, perhaps. Wanted to take a trip back into my childhood, which is a sign the psychologist say of something or other.

I remember that was a big gray house where we lived and I had my first memory of any public event. That was the assassination of McKinley, I remember. It was a big house and it had an enormous lawn all around it. There were humming birds and dragon flies in that garden and we used to catch the dragon flies and put them in cages. Once I caught a humming bird and was so frightened at my own temerity that I let it go.... I remember.... That's where we lived that time when the gasoline stove in the kitchen exploded and my father picked it up in his bare hands and carried it out in the yard. He was brave.... We had a Gordon setter named Rover, who would climb a ladder and my brother used to hitch him up in a cart my father had made and drive him around the block with a piece of meat hanging on a stick just in front of his nose.... I remember.... I went to school first from that house. And one day some geese chased me and I fell in a puddle and ran home screaming.... I remember.... I had my first fight here. I bloodied a fat boy's nose and his mother complained to my mother, but she didn't do anything to me.... I remember distinctly what an enormously grand house that was.... We had mulberry trees, too, but no silk worms.

But I remember mistakenly. It wasn't a big house at all. It was a rather small house. It wasn't a big garden either. Or it shrank terribly in thirty years: and neither the house nor the garden was impressively large when I went back to see them.

I suppose I shouldn't have gone. It may have been a mistake. It may be a mistake always, to trapse back through the years to places, to memories of what used to be. And we should keep our eyes and our minds fixed firmly on the present that is rushing so wildly toward the future. We shouldn't go back to learn that what seemed so big was actually tiny. The house we lived in. The gardens where we played. The pains, the joys, they weren't as great as we thought they were.... But they WERE big.

The house was palatial. The garden was grand. The griefs were profound. The joys were everlasting.... And the years cannot take away what once they brought to me or you.

It's difficult for a fat man to learn the violin because he has to tick it under both chins.

A Pittsburgh lady wants a divorce from her husband because he lays in bed and reads and will not let her pull up the covers and she had to sleep on the floor. Wouldn't gals fix a bird like that.

In November, 1933, 6,635,038,693 cigarettes were made. In November, this year, 9,727,492,603 were made, or about three billion more. The cig business was better anyhow.

It is really dangerous to haul people in an automobile. If they get killed they can sue you for damages and you can even be socked for murder.

You may wish to be friendly and neighborly—to show such a spirit you try to be unconventional and thus overdo the matter.

Those whom you visit in these uncivilized calls may have objection to you as an individual, but their time is so occupied that they do not wish to be interrupted—by you or anyone else.

Perhaps you do not know that other women are interested in educational matters and are constantly searching for something to improve their minds.

To be able to manage their homes and to become skilled in their housework is not their sole desire, and they, too, love their homes.

But when their home duties have been completed, they find study more congenial than sewing or visiting.

The reason you have so much time is that your work ends when your housework is done, and so you belong to clubs and what not.

And you ought to take more pains not to infringe upon the time of your good neighbor who is perhaps not so socially-minded.

They never saw his garden small.

Where countless evening hours

He trained an ivy on the wall

And worked among the flowers.

Yet those who passed his dwelling by

And saw his lawn so trim

Unknowingly had cast an eye

Upon the soul of him.

For winds of cold indifference sweep

The beautiful away

And only those who love can keep

A little garden gay.

They knew him as a workman good.

Perhaps the very best.

But beauty smiled and understood

The courage he possessed.

LET ME WALK WITH THE MEN IN THE ROAD

Tis only a half truth the poet has sung

Of the "house by the side of the way."

Our Master had neither a house nor a home,

But he walked with the crowd day by day.

And I think, when I read of the poet's desire,

That a house by the road would be good;

But service is found in its tenderest form

When we walk with the crowd in the road.

So I say, let me walk with the men in the road.

Let me seek out the burdens that crush,

Let me speak a kind word of good cheer to the weak

Who are falling behind in the rush

There are wounds to be healed, there are breaks we must mend.

There's a cup of cold water to give;

And the man in the road by the side of a friend

Is the man who has learned to live.

Then tell me no more of the house by the road.

There is only one place I can live—it's with the man who are tolling along,

Who are needing the cheer I can give.

It is pleasant to live in the house by the way.

And be a friend, as the poet has said;

But the Master is bidding us, "Bear ye their load,

For your rest waiteth yonder ahead."

I could not remain in the house by the road

And watch as the tollers go on.

Their faces clouded with pain and with sin,

So burdened, their strength nearly gone;

I'll go to their side, I'll speak in good cheer,

I'll help them to carry their load;

And I'll smile at the man in the house by the way,

As I walk with the crowd in the road.

Out there in the road that goes by the house,

Where the poet is singing his song,

I'll walk and I'll work midst the heat of the day,

And I'll help falling brothers along—Too busy to live in the house by the way.

Murder Notes Are Probed At Philadelphia

Reopen Investigation Into Murder Of Nine-Year-
Old William Reilly,
Jr.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Federal agents and city detectives today reopened investigation into the brutal murder of nine-year-old William D. Reilly, Jr., whose body was found, literally hacked to pieces, in a clump of bushes last June and for whose death, 16-year-old Richard Ragone is serving a life term in the Fairview State Hospital for Mental Defectives.

Reopening of the case followed the receipt by Ragone's family and police of several letters signed the "Crimson Star," and purportedly declaring the writer of the notes committed the crime and not the Ragone youth.

Police Interested
According to R. George Harvey, chief of the Philadelphia division of the bureau of investigation, the letters were first considered the work of a crank, but later it was recalled Ragone's confession implicated a "gray-bearded old man."

"I murdered Reilly and I'm giving you warning that I'm going to commit another murder shortly," one of the notes threatened.

(International News Service)
CANTON, O., Dec. 27.—Willard Ischan and William Lloyd Gruber, the "problem" boys who last July shot and killed Ernest Schwartz, Pittsburgh gold buyer, today were sent to different state institutions.

Judge Harvey T. Ake elected to retain jurisdiction rather than bind both boys to the grand jury after the arraignment and late yesterday accepted pleas of guilty to charges of manslaughter.

Tschan was sentenced to an indefinite term in the State Industrial school for boys at Lancaster and Gruber was committed to the state hospital for criminal insane at Lima for one year.

Many Prisoners Are Sentenced

Ohio Man Is Given Term Of 3 To 6 Years In Prison For Robbery

DRUNKEN DRIVERS HEAR COURT DECREE

Paul Kissel, 48, Youngstown, who pleaded guilty to stealing a ten ton truck from the Jones service station near Five Points on the New Castle-Youngstown road, was sentenced to serve from 3 to 6 years in the Western penitentiary, at sentence court held by Judges Heilbrand and Chambers, this morning.

It was brought out that up until the depression, Kissel had been a prosperous restauranteur in Youngstown. He lost his restaurant and then bought an old truck to haul coal in an effort to support his family. He had never been in trouble before, so far as the officers had learned.

Other Cases.

Tony Vesala, for aggravated assault and battery, was sentenced to jail for three months. Vesala is alleged to have cut George Shimp and Walter Golba during a quarrel. He also received a wound during a quarrel. It is claimed that the men had been drinking together.

Oscar Teminski, who was paroled on a breaking and entering charge, was brought in for violating his parole and was sentenced to from one to two years in the Allegheny county workhouse.

Michael Georgeff, charged with bigamy, having two wives, claimed that he thought his first wife had secured a divorce. He had not seen her for five years. He was sentenced to the county jail for 6 to 12 months.

Calvin Cox, charged with adultery and bastardy, was sentenced to jail for four months. When he gets out he is to pay lying in expenses and one dollar per week for the support of the child.

Edward Wagner, on a rape charge, was sentenced to from two to five years in the penitentiary. When he gets out he is to pay the girl $2 per week for the support of the child until it arrives at the age of 14 years. It was contended in Wagner's behalf that it was not a case of rape. He and the girl worked on the same farm. However, as the girl was under 16 years of age, there was nothing to do but sentence him on the charge as brought.

Howard Zeigler, for fornication and bastardy, was sentenced to pay the girl $35 lying in expenses, one dollar per week until the child is five years old and then two dollars per week until it arrives at the age of 14 years.

Gets Jail Term.

J. B. Simons, charged with breaking and entering the house of Abe Shapiro on Moravia street, was sentenced to serve from six months to two years in the county jail.

Mary Wodak, convicted of having unlawful liquor in her possession, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and three months to the county jail. Her place was located in Shenango Township.

Joseph Paniella, for fornication and bastardy, was sentenced to pay $95 lying in expenses, $1.50 per week for the support of the child until it is five years old, and then $2 per week until it is 14 years old.

LARGEST COLLECTION

The largest private collection of pitchers in the world, 1,878 of them, is owned by Mrs. Lue Stuart Wadsworth of Newtonville, Mass. They are all sizes and shapes and hold from one drop to a gallon of liquid.

Drunken Drivers

Among the drunken drivers for sentence was Edward F. Henle, for whom a strong plea for leniency was made. It was shown that Henle has been driving a coal truck. He has a wife and family. On the evening of November 27, 1934, he was in his coal office and had been drinking. There was a policeman on the beat against whom he swore. There was a truck standing near and the policeman told him not to drive it. In spite of this warning he went out and drove the truck into a shed. The whole distance that the truck was moved was only about 50 yards. It was contended that he did not endanger the lives of any one. It was intimated that the policeman might have been offended at his language. Chief of Police Haven stated that if policemen were offended at language they would all have cases. He said that it was not for this, but for the fact that Henle had disobeyed the policeman's order, that he was arrested. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and 30 days to jail.

Frank Kresik, who was also charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and given 30 days to the county jail.

Harry Gerra, for drunken driving, was sentenced to pay $100 and costs and serve 45 days in jail.

OTHER CASES.

Tony Vesala, for aggravated assault and battery, was sentenced to jail for three months.

Paul Kissel, 48, Youngstown, who pleaded guilty to stealing a ten ton truck from the Jones service station near Five Points on the New Castle-Youngstown road, was sentenced to serve from 3 to 6 years in the Western penitentiary, at sentence court held by Judges Heilbrand and Chambers, this morning.

It was brought out that up until the depression, Kissel had been a prosperous restauranteur in Youngstown. He lost his restaurant and then bought an old truck to haul coal in an effort to support his family. He had never been in trouble before, so far as the officers had learned.

Steve Markovich and Frank Haluk, also of Youngstown, who were tried for the same time following Kissel's plea, were acquitted at the trial.

Boys Are Paroled

William Brachetti, George Hass, Joseph Fulwood and Jose Copple, four youths who were charged with breaking handles off automobiles and stealing from cars, were placed on probation for a period of five years. Lengthy pleas were made for them by their attorneys, who took the ground that as it was the first offense for three of the boys, they ought to be given a chance to become good citizens.

Judge Hildebrand stated that it was with a great deal of hesitancy that he might be criticized for so doing, but he believed that if the boys were given a chance they might become good citizens. He impressed upon all of them that if they should be brought before the court for breaking their parole, no leniency would be shown and they would be sentenced on the present charges and any new ones.

The report was filed by Drs. James F. Vavasour and Charles I. Lambert, who examined Fish.

Judge Hildebrand, for fornication and bastardy, was sentenced to pay the girl $35 lying in expenses, one dollar per week until the child is five years old and then two dollars per week until it arrives at the age of 14 years.

STRIKE CALL IS NOT WELL OBEYED

International News Service

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 27.—Not more than 30 per cent of the workers of the Glen Alden Coal Company obeyed the strike call of the United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania, a new union, Edward Griffith, general manager, reported today.

Griffith reported the Wanamaker and Avondale operations idle and the others working, some with reduced forces. Union officials insisted a half dozen collieries were closed. Peaceful picketing prevailed.

SEVENTY-FIVE years ago the pioneers of the Pikes Peak region organized the now forgotten Territory of Jefferson in the mountain region of Colorado and Wyoming, then part of the Territory of Kansas. President For 'Safe And Sane' Spending Move

International News Service

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—President Roosevelt has ordered a "safe and sane" spending program from his new congress, and he began to-day, just week before it convenes, to transmit his orders emphatically to administration leaders.

Between now and next Thursday, January 3, the president will outline his plans to the leaders of both house and senate individually. He intends to have it thoroughly understood that there must be a tapering off of the heavy expenditures of a non-liquidating nature.

Much of the presidential message to congress will be concerned with the problem of curbing expenditures. Mr. Roosevelt has already revealed that he intends to direct his message to broad and general topics, rather than demands for specific legislation. The executive plans to go to Capitol Hill and personally deliver the message.

Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, majority leader, will be one of the first to confer with the president in this final week drive for a conservative spending program. It will be the job of Vice President Garner, Robinson and of the new speaker of the house, who will be Rep. Joe Byrnes (D) of Tennessee, to see that the presidential mandate is carried out.

During the record week, 473 loans were granted in Philadelphia to harassed home owners, each loan representing the rescue of a home from the sheriff's hammer.

Laporte declared 28,000 loans involving $85,000,000, have been granted since he took office on July 1. Pennsylvania, he stated, within six months will have completed a larger proportion of loans in relation to applications than any other state.

Another important recent finding of science, Dr. Schlesinger said, was the discovery that the efficiency of reflecting telescopes can be revolutionized by coating telescope mirrors with aluminum instead of silver, thus making them nearly twice as powerful for taking astronomical photographs as they previously were.

NRA Program Is Assailed Again

Noted Economist Says That NRA Program Retarded Return Of Prosperity

SOCIAL CHANGES UNPROVIDED FOR (International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—National recovery administration policies, discussed pro and con by leading economists at the mid-winter session of Social Sciences Association, today stood indicted as having balked recovery through increased unemployment and the threat of inflation.

Dr. George Terborgh, of Brookings Institution in Washington, issued the scathing attack on the NRA program, based on a survey which the institution is conducting on the economic aspects of new deal policies.

Retarded Recovery

"I am frank to say that it is my opinion not only that the NRA would have retarded recovery had it worked out as planned, but that it retarded recovery as it actually did work out," Dr. Terborgh said.

"Whether the loss to recovery has been justified by gains to reform I leave it to others to say."

"My own view is that the boosting of costs and prices that went on under the NRA was premature, ill-advised and inimical to the expansion of productive activity. Both employers and employees, generally speaking, needed a greater volume of activity, not a higher price per unit."

Warms Of Danger

Prof. Charles E. Merriam, University of Chicago political scientist, warned of the danger of dictatorship to the United States in addressing another section of the meeting.

That danger, said Prof. Merriam, lies not so much in the granting of high powers to the presidency, but in the failure to provide by national planning for fundamental social changes.

The lack of planning, he said, may "put force on a throne to write a plan in blood and steel."

Over 200 children of the Scioto street district and the Crawford-Oakridge children's home, Atlantic avenue, will receive treats from the Phalanx fraternity of the Y. M. C. A. before the holiday season ends.

The Christmas treats of the young men's service organization will come to a close when over 60 boys, all under 12 years of age, receive their holiday serving of ice cream, cake and other goodies at an East Roalds street mission next Friday night.

A treat for the older Scioto boys, more than 160 of them, was given late last week at a Christmas program at which Miss Alice Sterling, city librarian, spoke. Almost 100 enjoyed a free dinner in the Y on Saturday and then frolicked in the gym and pool later.

t' em, to serve at the camps, it was pointed out. The boys are paid $25 monthly and receive all food and clothing.

Recruits should enlist at the federal-state employment office in the Johnson building, where clerks waited to sign them up today.

Executive Director Morehead explained that the boys, while at camp, earn an average of $6.25 per week and at the end of the month receive a $25 check which goes to their home. He made it clear that in cases where the budgetary deficiency of families is above the $6.25 figure, the relief office here will continue to pay the families the difference between $6.25 and the amount they should receive.

"In Butler and Mercer counties we are having little trouble enrolling the youths," the relief officer said. "Here in Lawrence it has been different."

On the night of January 4 a special train will leave Butler loaded with 125 CCC recruits from this relief area. They will be taken to a training camp for a short limbering-up period.

W. Fari Leslie, acting supervisor of the employment office, urges applicants to report at once.

Two Muncie, Indiana, Boys Are Slowly Turning Into Stone

(International News Service) MUNCIE, Ind., Dec. 27.—Physicians here today proposed to try a serum to prevent two Muncie brothers from turning to stone.

Ossification caused by a disease virtually unknown to science was creeping through the bodies of Charles Wagner, 16, and his brother, William, nine. Charles was in a wheel chair, unable to move from the waist down, and William is forced to drag one foot when he walks.

Attending doctors said the cases of the Wagner brothers were similar to that of Benney Hendricks, Wilkes-Barre's "stone boy," who is expected to live only a short time as the result of ossification.

Liquor License Rush Swamping State Office

Many Of Liquor-By-Drink Places Will Not Have Licenses By Next Monday

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—Sad news for some New Year's celebrators came today from the liquor control board, which reported the last-minute rush for 1935 by-the-drink licenses will probably prevent issuance of renewal cards to all establishments by next Monday.

The 1934 licenses expire at midnight Monday, and unless renewals have been issued, liquor cannot be sold legally.

Clyde E. Smith, chief of the licensing division, said 5,100 licenses for next year already have been issued. Another 2,000 or 2,500 will be issued this week to the 6,000 establishments which do not yet have their 1935 permits, leaving about 4,000 "wet spots" dry on New Year's.

Story Series To Sketch 'Cubbing'

Articles Will Show Parents Work of Local "Young Scout" Branch

(Editor's Note: "What is cubbing?" is a question being asked every day. Boy Scouts leaders herewith present the first of a series of articles telling of its work.)

Cubbing is a movement sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, and organized as a younger boy division of that movement, to give the boy of nine, 10 and 11 years of age a chance to do a program of fascinating things that boys of that age love to do. Worked out by a central committee made up of some of the greatest educators of today, and assisted by a great nationwide committee of over 13,000 boy workers, the cub program today is the most scientifically constructed series of activities ever lined up for boys, because it has drawn from the vast experiences of all other boy organizations combined.

Jens' in Neighborhoods.

Boys of this pre-scout age come together as neighborhood groups called "dens." These are the natural playgrounds of boy groups or dens every where—back yards, cellars, garages, attics, boys' rooms or wherever else the gang naturally congregates around the home, for cubbing centers around the home. One of the reconstructions that must be made in American life is to have the home again become the center of family activity, for too many children today grow up against the handicap of broken homes or no right family life of any kind. So, then, den activity is centered around the home. Den meetings are informal, but nevertheless most of the cub program is worked out in these informal meetings. "Den chiefs" (scouts from the troop backed by the same institution that sponsors the cub pack) are on hand at these den meetings to act as big brothers, to direct games if the "denner" (cub leader) is not up to it, and to help the den generally in play, cub knowledge and oversight generally. These den chiefs, incidentally, are starting in at an early age to get a consciousness.

AVIATION FATALITIES ROSE WITH ACHIEVEMENTS IN 1934

By LEON W. SCHLOSS
International News Service
Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 27.—Aviation, the magic carpet of 20th century civilization, hewed out many new and startling monuments of achievement in 1934, but the price paid in human lives was pathetically and disproportionately high.

In the United States, 363 fatalities were recorded as a result of aviation accidents, as compared with 308 in 1933. Twenty-one of these deaths occurred on the airways of the 23 registered passenger transport lines. In 1933, only eight persons lost their lives while travelling on commercial lines.

Car Didn't Hit Man; Man Hit Car

Amedeo Ginocchi, of South Jefferson street, whose automobile was involved in an accident on South Mill street Tuesday night, states to the News today that his car did not hit John Casalanda, of South Mill street, but that Casalanda walked right into the rear of the car as it passed.

He further said that, as he realized the pedestrian was not watching where he was going, he swerved his car sharply but was unable to get it out of the pedestrian's path. He stopped, picked the injured man up, and took him to the New Castle hospital.

PROPOSE NEW TAXES TO AID PUBLIC SCHOOLS

State Teachers Hear Program

Educational Association
Delegates Discuss Problems Of Public Schools

DR. BEN GRAHAM
MAY BE STATE HEAD

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—Three new taxes designed to yield $62,000,000 annually for increased state aid for schools and alleviation of the tax burden on real estate were among the many proposals before the convention of the Pennsylvania State Educational association today.

The new imposts, recommended by a committee of which Dr. Cameron Ross, president of the association, was chairman, were:

.. general one per cent retail sales tax to yield $24,000,000, a personal income tax to raise $8,000,000 and a franchise tax on business to yield $30,000,000.

Other Recommendations.

An amendment of the state constitution to provide for the election of the state superintendent of public instruction rather than appointment by governor as at present was urged in the report of the committee on legislation which stated such a change would remove the office "from the hazards of partisan politics".

R vision of the state's child labor laws to conform with provisions of the NRA also was recommended by the committee, of which Charles S. Davis of Steelton was chairman.

This committee further urged that the 1935 assembly make a deficiency appropriation of $5,000,000 to meet salary obligations under the Edmond act; an appropriation to continue emergency aid to needy districts; deficiency appropriations for vocational and special education and create a special fund to equalize educational opportunities in poorer school districts.

A modern constitution to eliminate "ox cart" government was also recommended.

Propose District Changes.

Reorganization of school districts on the so-called "community" basis was recommended by a committee of 24 educators of which Dr. Ross also was chairman.

The plan proposed that "community" school districts be organized around present high school centers or natural community centers. County executive committees would be named to recommend regroupings and reorganizations of school districts on "community" or county basis to be submitted for local option at the November, 1936, election. Special financial inducements would be offered school districts to speed reorganization.

Commenting on this report, Dr. James N. Rule, state superintendent of public instruction, told district superintendents:

"The suggestion primarily is a move to place the administration of school districts on a higher plane of self-administration. It in no manner constitutes denial of local self-government but aims to protect it through making it really efficient."

Dr. A. D. Thomas, superintendent of the Hazelton schools, and Ben G. Graham, Pittsburgh superintendent, were nominated to succeed Dr. Ross as president. The election will be held this afternoon.

M. H. Thomas, superintendent of Harrisburg schools, and Dr. James Herbert Kelley, Harrisburg, were unopposed for vice president and Pennsylvania director of the NEA, respectively.

Bids for next year's convention were presented by Harrisburg and Scranton.

ASK PENN'S NAME

IN HALL OF FAME

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—The Pennsylvania Federation of Historical Societies has opened a drive to place the name of William Penn in the hall of fame of New York university.

Appointing a committee to work toward this end, Major Frank W. Melvin, of Philadelphia, president of the federation, said:

"William Penn, one of the truly great men of modern times, who founded the commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a holy experiment, should be given a place with other immortals in the hall of fame."

The example of William Penn's far-seeing vision, his sense of justice and his efforts in the cause of world peace constitute an example which the world urgently needs in our day."

To ask a newsboy to see Jack Dempsey, and eat with him would be like asking an Arab to eat bread and salt with Mohammed.

The difficulty is that many boys, grown big, fail to transfer their interest from Jack Dempsey to Socrates, Plato and Aristotle, and that is a mistake.

"The example of William Penn's far-seeing vision, his sense of justice and his efforts in the cause of world peace constitute an example which the world urgently needs in our day."

A new way of adding color to a costume which comes under the head of sports, is to wear a bright wool skirt with a dark or neutral wool jacket or blouse.

Children's Party Given By Circle

Santa Claus was a little delayed in coming to the children of the members of Circle 5 of the Protective Home Circle, but nevertheless he made his appearance at the party Wednesday evening, with all jollity, and presented each one with a splendid holiday treat, after a splendid program of entertainment had been presented.

The colorful Yuletide decorations formed a pretty background for the program which opened with the entire assemblage singing "Joy to the World". Betty Lalley gave a reading; Shirley Hammond had an acrobatic dance; Charles Barkley and James Davis played saxophone and violin numbers, with Mrs. Agnes Barkley at the piano; Gloria Picato presented a toe dance, as well as a jig number; Bobby Drake gave a reading; the group sang "Silent Night"; Dorothy Young gave a reading.

David Sumner had a song; Nina Strong, accompanied by Mrs. Hazel Hicks, had a military dance; Margaret McCracken had a reading; Albert Groves sang and the group sang "Come All Ye Faithful", with Mrs. Camilla Boyd as accompanist. Harry Melham gave an address, after which David Tucker, as Santa Claus, made his appearance.

Mrs. Helen Ray, guardian, and her committee, served a Christmas treat. Wednesday, January 2, the circle will have a tureen dinner.

As he walked from the dark prison door, just before sunrise toward the two uprights with the slanting knife at the top, French and women shouted at him: "Tu es bien court, mais va te racourir d'une tête."

You are short, but you will be shortened by one head."

And after the basket with his head, and the other basket with his body, had been taken away, and police lines had gone, the crowd rushed forward to dip handkerchiefs in "fondue" in the blood that still remained on the pavement of the square.

That was many years ago, when Clemenceau, still young, was an editor and a deputy, writing savage editorials, fighting duels, killing his man occasionally, always declaring:

Plan To Curtail Auto Accidents

Would Have All Accidents No Matter How Trivial Reported Promptly

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 27.—Changes in motor vehicle laws to add "teeth" to the legislation governing automobile drivers is advocated by the Keystone Automobile Club as an answer to the increasing clamor of the public for effective action in accident prevention.

In a statement that appeared in the club's publication, The Keystone Motorist, recently, the public was asked to lend "wholehearted support to our championing of what seems a most logical and necessary move to curtail the rising tide of automobile accidents."

The club proposed that the law require, under severe penalty, the reporting of every accident no matter how trivial, to the end that motor vehicle authorities can act promptly and effectively "to remove incompetents and accident-prone drivers from the list of licensed drivers."

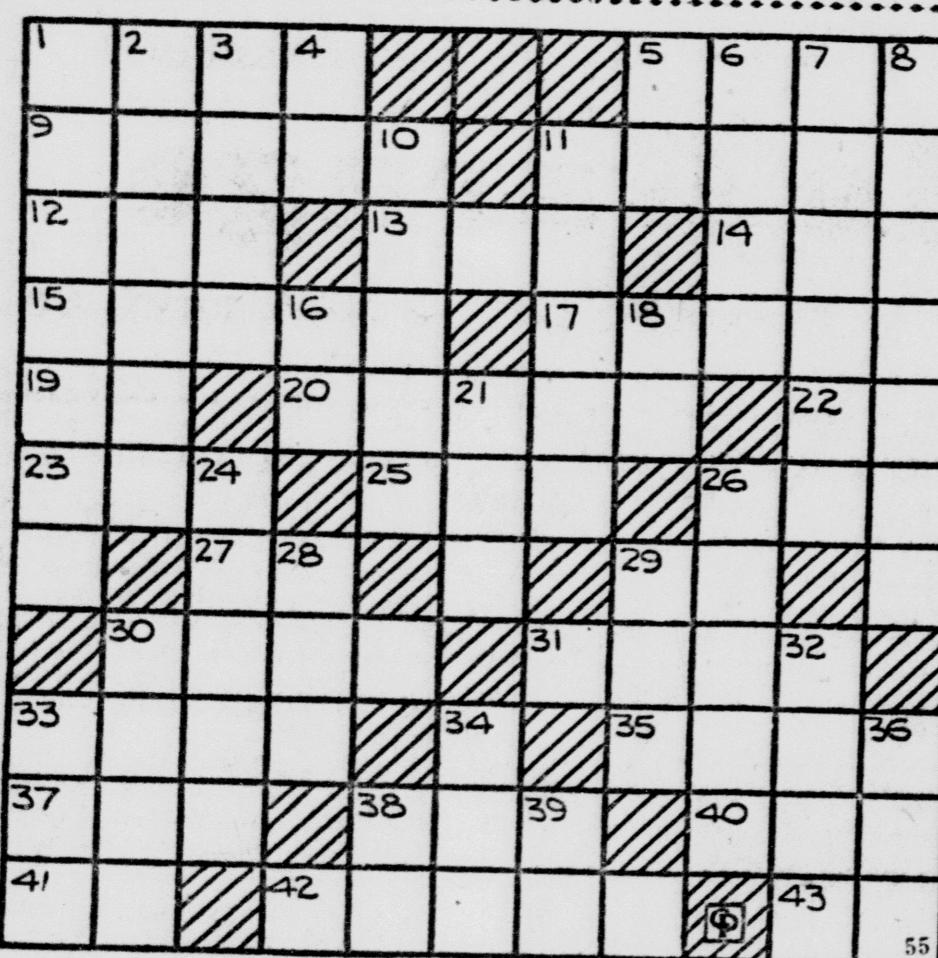

WEIGHT LIMITS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—In the enforcement of state laws regulating the load limits of commercial motor vehicles and truck tractors operating on the highways, the state highway patrol made 278 arrests during October. Thus far this year 1737 arrests have been made on this charge.

PATROL ACTIVE

HARRISBURG, Dec. 27.—Apprehending an average of more than 4000 law violators a month, the state highway patrol reached the end of October with a total of 41,138 arrests to its credit. This is an increase of one-third over the 31,164 arrests made during the first ten months of last year.

Isobel Steele Talks Freely Of Nazi Jails

Spent Four Months In Ver-
tible Dungeon Maintained
By Nazi Germany

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Brown eyed Isobel Lillian Steele, American girl who obtained first hand information about Nazi German dungeons when she spent four months in them as a political prisoner, prepared today to leave for her home in Hollywood, Cal., so she could spend New Year's Day with her family... her unhappy experiences overseas almost forgotten.

Miss Steele declared her one desire now was to obliterate from her consciousness the four months of her confinement and to return to normal living.

She said she was glad to be able to "talk freely," but, paradoxically, she made no serious effort to dispel the aura of mystery that has hung about her since her arrest in Berlin last August on unspecified charges.

Kept In Dungeon

She denied directly that she was a Communist and intimated that the reasons why she was arrested grew out of "plot" which resulted from outspoken criticism of the muzzling of the German press and her defense of the Jews.

The girl... she is a music student... said her cell in Moabit prison had a single barred window and a door that was solid except for a tiny peep hole. The only furnishings were a table, still, bed and straw mattress for furnishings. She added that over the door of her cell was a cross, indicating she was marked for execution.

She declared she was compelled to arise at 5:30 a.m. to a breakfast of black coffee and bread and that a bath was permitted her only "every third week".

Stokowski Bids Orchestra Adieu

Famous Orchestra Leader Will Return From Coast In September As Guest Conductor

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 27.—Following a touching au revoir to his players and his audience, Leopold Stokowski today prepared to journey to his California home, thence to the Orient, with the future of his association with the Philadelphia orchestra still in doubt.

Only one thing was certain, the veteran, blond-haired maestro will return in September to act as a guest conductor.

The question of whether the veteran leader will negotiate a contract for the 1936-37 season remained dependent on the proposed reorganization of the orchestra association's board of directors.

AERIAL ARMADA OF 900 PLANES

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—America's military air service today was established on a new basis for a one-year test of its ability to operate as a giant aerial armada in case foreign warbirds threaten American shores.

By direction of Secretary of War Dern, the proposed general headquarters air force was established for one year of experiment.

The purpose of this general headquarters air force is to concentrate all the combat units of the army air corps into one organization to serve as an emergency flying force.

This force will be held in readiness for call at a moment's notice to concentrate and roar in giant mass formation to any part of the nation that may be threatened by attack.

If called into action immediately the force would form an aerial armada of approximately 900 machines.

New Castle Hi Quintet Plays Alumni Tonight

Preliminary Game Will Start At 7:15 O'clock At George Washington Gym

GOOD PLAYERS ON ALUMNI TEAM

New Castle high school basketball team will play the New Castle High Alumni team at the George Washington Junior high gym tonight, in the annual battle between the high school boys and graduates. The preliminary game will start at 7:15 o'clock and will offer the Ben Franklin high quintet against the New Castle high reserves.

The Alumni team composed of last year will start the game tonight, with Archie Ridley and Russ Battley at the forward posts, with big Joe Kelly at center, and "Powerhouse" Kominic and Captain Lester "Bus" Reiber at the guards. Augmenting this crew will be such well known stars as Johnny and Nickie Uram and Johnny Teplicka.

Lineup In Doubt
Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has not yet selected his starting lineup for tonight, but will more than likely try the following combination: Koszela and Mumford at the forwards, with Cark at center and Ostrosky and Tuscano at the guards. Cark has played center before and knows the ropes. He is a valuable man to have in the game. O'Brien and Nahas are other probable center possibilities for tonight. Mumford in the Sharon game stamped himself as a real floor man, and can hardly be expected to ride the bench. Henry Koszela is the smoothest basketball player on the floor and one of the hardest workers.

Before the game and between halves tonight the New Castle high band under the supervision of Joe Replage will render some snappy tunes. The admission for the Alumni game is the same as for the other games, it was announced by Ralph H. Gardner today.

Alumni Boys Confident

The Alumni boys are quite het-up over the game tonight and have the following to say regarding the outcome:

Captain Bus Reiber of last year's team. "We are mighty glad to play again before a high school crowd and expect to show the 1934-1935 team how the game of basketball should be played. We hope the old grads will come out and give us their support from the stands."

Walter Kominic: "I have just gotten back from Penn State where I was a lowly freshman and it certainly makes me feel good to get back and meet the old gang. This is the first time I have been home since last September and you do not know how you value your friends until you have been away from home. It will be great to play again with Bus and Bat and Ridley and Kelley and before the old home town people again. I saw the game Thursday night against Sharon and I believe Bridie is going to have a real team this year. We hope and expect to give them a good game."

Arch Ridley: "I have been playing basketball last spring and this fall and believe me it is not like playing for old Ne-Ca-Hi and it is going to be a real thrill for me to get back on the Washington gym with the old gang."

Rus Battley: "Boy, will I be in there battling Thursday night when the Alumni tackle this year's varsity of good old New Castle high. And boy, will we make mince-meat of Bridies this year's team."

The major leagues spend close to $70,000 a year for baseballs. . . . The Cincinnati Reds may start the season with one of the most violent infelids ever to play in the majors. Johnny Mize, first; Alex Karpousis, second; Billy Myers, short, and Lou Riggis, third base, are all youngsters who have never performed a full season in the majors. Incidentally, Mize, Myers, and Riggis all came from the St. Louis farm system.

Robert G. Morrison of Pittsburgh won medalist honors Wednesday at Pinehurst. He put together a 38-39 for 77, which is six above par for the course. The field contained the largest number of contestants for the annual mid-winter golf championship since the boom days of 1928.

Len Koenecke Is Leading Fielder

Brooklyn Outfielder Only Credited With Two Errors During 1934 Season

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Two new National League records were established by Len Koenecke, of Brooklyn, and Curt Davis, of Philadelphia, in the official fielding records for the league announced today. Koenecke, labeled a $75,000 "bust" with the Giants some years ago, broke all league outfielding records by making only two errors in 318 chances for an average of .994. The record, .993, was previously held by Pat Duncan, of Cincinnati, and Wally Berger, Boston outfielder.

Davis' contribution was to figure in twelve double plays during the season, as pivot man from the pitcher's box. Burleigh Grimes held the former record of eleven, made in 1932.

The other fielding leaders, by positions, were:

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Reports are current that Harvard is thinking of naming George Clark, all-western quarterback at Illinois in 1915, as a successor to Eddie Casey, football coach who resigned. Bill Bingham, graduate manager, has arrived at New York and while he refused to make a public statement, his friends intimated that the post may be offered to Clark.

Six ounce gloves will be used Friday night when Max Baer, heavyweight boxing champion, takes on Kingfish Levinsky at Chicago. By mutual agreement they will wrap their hands in three feet of gauze and two feet of adhesive tape, about half the amount generally used. No decision will be given but should either boxer be knocked out the referee will toll off the numerals. If Max goes down for the full count his championship will go to the Kingfish of Chicago.

For the first time in 29 years the National Collegiate Athletic association and leading football coaches of the country will meet today in New York. The sessions will end Friday night. Among the topics discussed will be the question as to whether it is better to stick to the solid conservatism of the present football code or lean to the wide open game as presented by the professionals. The pros and cons of subsidizing of college athletes also will be discussed.

BARNEY ROSS, junior welterweight champion of the world, will box Frankie Kick for the crown at Miami, January 24, according to Art Winch, who, with Sam Plan, presides over the pugilistic destinies of Ross. The New York state boxing solons have demanded that Ross first meet a suitable lightweight contender before he defends the junior welterweight title.

Robert G. Morrison of Pittsburgh won medalist honors Wednesday at Pinehurst. He put together a 38-39 for 77, which is six above par for the course.

The field contained the largest number of contestants for the annual mid-winter golf championship since the boom days of 1928.

The Humberts would like to schedule games with all fast quintets in the city or county. For games call 3301-J between 7 and 8 in the evenings, and ask for William.

Baer-Levinsky Set For Battle

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 27.—Max Baer, world's heavyweight champion, and Kingfish Levinsky today went about the process of last day training calisthenics for a unique fight.

Realization that the two—Baer as the champion and Levinsky as a rough, tough mauler who specializes in beating Champion (Dempsey and Sharkey)—are to fight with six ounce gloves in the Chicago stadium pit tomorrow night, brings the episode into the spotlight as a pretty swell spectacle.

Through Baer's own demand, made at the meeting held in the Illinois Boxing Commission chambers, the champion and Levinsky will slug with the regulation fighting gloves, which weigh six ounces. They meet in a four round contest, a no decision bout.

Athletics Will Be Discussed In Heated Session

National Collegiate Athletic Association Will Hold Annual Convention

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Just to show that peace on earth, good will toward man was only a lot of mistletoe left out on the back steps with the empties, the boys of the oral, moral and pop-off association will begin bickering today. Officially, it will be the annual conventions of the National Collegiate Athletic association, the Sportsmanship Brotherhood, the Student Health association, the Physical Education association and the American Football Coaches association.

Of course, the latter hardly belongs. After all, it is only oral. Perhaps I should also have mentioned the better-builds for bigger chin-ups movement.

A Lot of Blather.

Anyhow, they'll all be here today with a great deal of blather about football and subsidies and proselytizing—vague generalities that have no meaning when considered in relation to the fact that some colleges are maintaining football men at a weekly wage and others endow prospects so lavishly that they're able to graduate with full social rites from exclusive prep schools featuring the Park avenue set.

The orators and moralists, of course, are greatly upset at this particular time because of recent developments, whereby Cornell, W. & J. and a minor college in New England violated the code by suddenly going in for candor. Cornell said it would have scholarships for those intellectually eligible, doubtless meaning that if you're a mental defective you just can't get in. The New England school frankly advertised that it was prepared to bed down and board as many as 25 young men for its varsity squad. As for W. & J., its president announced that the place had been paying $40,000 a year for football players and now meant to emphasize field hockey and long walks on Sunday.

Titans Embark For New York

Three Games Are To Be Played In East By Westminster

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 27.—Three games in the New York district face the Westminster college basketball team as it leaves tonight by train for Manhattan. The Titan squad will arrive in New York early tomorrow morning, and will play the first game tomorrow night against John Marshall at Jersey City, N. J.

A squad of nine players has been chosen by Coach John D. Lawther for the trip. These men are: John Wilhelm, Kittanning; Henry Hunneke, Baldwin, N. Y.; Wes Bennett, Akron, O.; Peter Leyshock, Farrell, Ray Sweeney, Youngstown, O.; John Krivosh, Sharon; Paul Backus, Youngstown, O.; Jack Willits, Ford City, and Morgan Rudich, West Middletown.

Coach John D. Lawther, Student Manager Robert Scarbrough, and Professor R. X. Graham, assistant athletic director, will be the others on the trip. The team will establish headquarters in a downtown hotel in New York.

Following the John Marshall game Friday night at Jersey City, the Titans will face St. Johns at Madison Square Garden on Saturday night and City College of New York at City College on New Year's eve. The Madison Square Garden game will be part of a basketball exhibit of two games. Notre Dame and New York university will be the other two teams in the exhibit.

Two Games Tonight At East Brook High

Two floor games will be played tonight at the East Brook High gym. The first game will bring the East Brook U. P. and Alumni of Wampum together at 8 o'clock. The second game will send the East Brook church team against the Reformed Presbyterians of New Castle. A third game is likely with the Neshannock church team meeting a strong opponent.

St. Michaels Top Hazelton

New Castle Church League Team Victors At Youngstown 44 To 8

St. Michaels church basketball team playing in the Penn-Ohiio church league handed the Hazelton, O., church team a neat lacing last night at the Lincoln gym in Youngstown by a score of 44 to 8.

At the end of the first half the St. Mikes were ahead 10 to 3. It was the second half attack that made the St. Mikes impressive with Balla, Cherny and Hnat uncorking one of the fastest passing and most accurate shooting attacks ever staged on a Youngstown floor to completely annihilate the Hazeltons. The St. Michaels boys hung up 34 points in the second period and held the opponents to five points.

Next week the St. Michaels will play at Warren, O., against the Holy Trinity quintet.

Stock Market Is Sluggish

Market Is Dominated By Year-End Adjustment
And Turns Sluggish

SET CITY TAX RATE FOR 1935

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—The stock market was sluggish today, dominated again by year-end adjustments involving tax selling and switching from one issue to another.

Another factor was continued pressure on utilities with a number of issues like Public Service of New Jersey and Columbia Gas at new lows for the year.

Rails were steadier, aided by the ability of traffic to hold above a year ago. Steels were dull and moved in a narrow range around the previous close.

Radio Preferred B rose nearly two points. American Can also was better after yesterday's sharp sell-off.

Oils were without trend. Consolidated Oil duplicated its low for the year. Farm stocks lost their recent buoyancy and marked time.

The tape carried a number of cash sales, a normal year-end development, even though transactions for tax loss purposes could still be made in the regular way today.

Liquors were quiet and easier. Motor shares and accessories showed support.

New Congress Is Question Mark—What Will It Do?

Vice President Garner

Speaker Byrns

The new congress, beginning January 3, is more of a question mark than any within present memory, due to the large influx of new members. What will it do? Vice President Garner, of course, again presides over the senate, but the house will have a new speaker in Representative Joseph W. Byrns, of Tennessee, who succeeds the late Henry T. Rainey of Illinois.

Many Houses In City Need Numbers Badly

Have you ever tried to find a total stranger in New Castle by the number on his house? Pick out a name from the directory some time and then see what picnic you have.

For example. You have occasion to look up Joseph Doax of 41144 Prosperity Avenue. A simple thing, you think. First you take the city or telephone directory and find that Mr. Doax lives there and that the street runs due north from 666 McGlumphus boulevard. Then you start out.

The first block has no numbers on the houses; neither does the second block. In the third block you find a house with a number on that looks moth-eaten and find that is the old number, put up before the numbers were changed in 1906.

After consulting a compass, a divining rod, a crystal ball and using differential calculus, you find a citizen who knows that Mr. Doax lives about three blocks up the street, and finally you arrive there.

The illustration may be a trifle overdrawn, but the fact is that New Castle is woefully lax in house numbers. This applies not only to dirt streets or outlying streets, but to such streets as Highland avenue.

After going over the city one finds many homes without numbers on them and many streets without street designations on them.

Princeton Reports Gifts Of $389,984

Bequest Of Henry G. Bryant, Of Philadelphia, For $75, 686 Is Largest

PRINCETON, N. J. Dec. 27.—A total of $389,984 was presented to Princeton University, through gifts and bequests, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, it was announced today by President Harold Willis Dodds in submitting a report to the trustees of the university.

The contributions fall into four classes, for endowment, current expenses, student aid, and grounds and buildings, $236,751 going to endowment and $125,897 for current expenses, while scholarship money totaled $16,694 and contributions toward the building, $10,640.

The largest individual gifts were bequests from two alumni, the late Henry G. Bryant, '83, of Philadelphia, for $75,686, and John De Witt Sterry, '89, of New York, for $39,411. Mrs. Bryant's bequest will be used to establish a professorship in geography, and the bulk of Dr. Sterry's for founding a fellowship in biology after specified contributions to the university library and general fund have been made.

The current budget of the school of public and international affairs, amounting to $45,100, was met through gifts from the Carnegie Corporation and 32 trustees, alumni and friends, while graduates likewise presented $13,404 to the alumini fund and $11,592 toward scholarships as well as many smaller sums for other purposes.

Other gifts termed "notable" by President Dodds in his report were $5,000 to the endowment fund of the Isabella McCosh infirmary through a $35,000 donation by its ladies' auxiliary, and $20,000 from the estate of Eleanor de Graff Guyler, and a grant of $17,511.87 from the general education board for the research program of the university's council of the humanities.
